

NITH VALLEY EGGS

Nith Valley Eggs is home to thousands of hens that roam free in the Thornhill woodlands, where they produce some of the finest free-range eggs in Scotland. The former quarry site has been transformed into currently the only free-range woodland-based farm in the county.

Objectives

Nith Valley Eggs was in search of a virtual platform to access their important fillies from any location, a CCTV system to monitor their land and ad hoc IT support for when any problems arise.

We have been extremely pleased with the support and services that Corona IT Solutions have given us. We wouldn't look anywhere else for our IT and CCTV needs in the future

CCTV

We made sure that Nith Valley Eggs had the necessary setup to monitor the well-being of their hens by installing CCTV cameras around their coops. With remote access, they can easily keep an eye on their surroundings and detect any potential threats.

Migration to Office 365

With the implementation of Microsoft 365, Nith Valley Eggs can conveniently access their files from a central location by multiple employees. Additionally, they can rest assured knowing that Microsoft's anti-spam and anti-virus software provides them with the highest level of protection against email malware.

Ad Hoc Support

Nith Valley Eggs can rely on our team of experts to assist them with any IT-related concerns that may arise. Our technicians are always available to provide support and ensure that their issues are managed in a timely matter.
